

Sponsor packages of 1st International Cellular Agriculture conference on June 14-15, 2023 in Helsinki

This on-site event will gather around 250 experts and actors from around the world in the field of cellular agriculture, i.e., harnessing biotechnology for food production. Join to learn about latest research results, share news from the industry and network for new partnerships. The aim is also to share information with decision-makers and stakeholders, especially in the EU.

As often the events in this field are focusing on only one sub-topic of cellular agriculture, in this event we bring all the sub-categories, i.e., microbial single cell protein, cultivated meat, plant cell cultures and precision fermentation, to generate new ideas and partnerships, facilitate RDI as well as business creation.

Seize the opportunity to get visibility, exhibit your organization's products and services, and create new partnerships. Demonstrate to stakeholders that your organization is bravely looking for innovative solutions to develop a sustainable food system!
